SECTION 9(1) of the Charitable Trusts Act 1993 permits the application of property cy-pres where the spirit of the original trust can no longer be implemented.

Thomas Moore wrote a will in February 1839. The application at issue concerns only the outstanding residue of the estate. The will divided the residuary of the estate into four parts, all for purposes relating to the Uniting Church of England and Ireland, the successor of which is now the Anglican Church of Australia.

The Trustees submit that over time, the real value of the corpus of the estate has diminished in size and no longer provides sufficient income to meet the charitable purposes set out in the will. The financial records provided by the Trustees support this conclusion.

The Trustees have applied to the Attorney General for a cy pres scheme for the future distribution of the trust funds, subject to two additional variations proposed by the Trustees. One variation concerns the part of the will providing an annual sum for the maintenance of widows of clergymen, seeking to remove the requirement that the widows must live 'chastely and unmarried'. The other amendment would remove certain monetary limits on support for widows and necessitous persons which, due to inflation, allow only very modest amounts to be paid to each individual recipient.

The major societal changes in NSW since 1839, and the effects of inflation, support the view that these original conditions have ceased to provide a suitable and effective method of using the trust property.

The Solicitor General, as delegate of the Attorney General in Charitable Trusts Act 1993 matters, has determined that this is an appropriate matter in which the Attorney General should approve a cy-pres scheme under section 12(1)(a) of the Charitable Trusts Act 1993. The approved scheme would enable the corpus comprising the trust to be distributed in substantially the same manner as is currently provided for the distribution of income from its investment, subject to the two variations sought by the Trustees.

Take note that within one month after the publication of this notice any person may make representations or suggestions to the Attorney General in respect of the proposed scheme. Representations should be made to: The Director, Legal Services Branch, NSW DJAG, GPO Box 6, Sydney NSW 2001.

Date: 13 October 2010.

PRACTICE NOTE DC (CIVIL) NO. 8

Early Return of Subpoenas

THIS Practice Note supersedes and replaces the previous Practices Notes referable to early return of subpoenas.

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 The issuing of subpoenas and the inspection of documents is vital to the proper preparation of cases. The Court provides a system for the early production of documents so that parties can meet the standards imposed by Practice Notes.

1.2 The power to deal with subpoenas is delegated to the registrar by a direction under section 13 of the Civil Procedure Act 2005.

2. SYSTEM FOR EARLY RETURN OF SUBPOENAS

2.1 The Court aims to allocate a return date within 6 weeks of the issue of a subpoena for production.

2.2 The Court has adopted the following system for the early return of subpoenas and access to documents to give effect to the powers in rule 33.9 of the Uniform Civil Procedure Rules 2005:

- (a) The issuing party will obtain a return date from the registry and endorse it on the subpoena. In Sydney, the return date will be on a Monday at 11am before the registrar.
- (b) The issuing party must complete and attach the approved form of subpoena notice and declaration (Form 28) to the front of the subpoena. The issuing party is also required to indicate a proposed access order in the subpoena notice and the addressee (subpoena recipient) is required to complete the attached declaration as to whether the documents produced are copies of documents, original documents or a mix of copies of documents and original documents. If the material produced is declared to be copies of documents the Registrar may, without further notice to you, destroy the copies after the expiry of a period of 4 months from the conclusion of the proceeding or, if the documents become exhibits in the proceeding, when they are no longer required in connection with the proceeding, including on any appeal. If the material produced is declared to be original documents or a mix of original and copies of documents the Court will return all of the material to you at the address specified in the declaration. If the issuing party does not propose an access order the following access order will apply:

“The issuing party to have first access for 7 days; thereafter, in the absence of further application, access to all parties.”

Where a different proposed access order is sought the issuing party must state his or her reasons in the notice. If there is a dispute over the proposed access, the parties must appear on the return date.

- (c) The issuing party must serve a copy of the subpoena and notice on all other parties who have an address for service within 7 days of issue. If the return date is less than 2 weeks away, the copy and notice must be served within 24 hours.
- (d) The issuing party must appear on the return date if it has not notified all parties of the issue of the subpoena. All other parties must attend on the return date unless the issuing party has obtained consent to mention the matter for all parties. The Court may make costs orders against parties who have not complied with the rules and this practice note.
- (e) Any party, or the producer, may object to the issuing party about the proposed access order. The issuing party must notify all other parties of the objection. Parties who wish to contest the proposed access order must appear on the return date and argue the question before the registrar.
- (f) If there is no appearance on the return date, the Court will generally make the proposed access order. There is no need for the parties to appear on the return date if all parties consent to the order sought.
- (g) If the subpoena has not been served, the issuing party should appear on the return date and ask the registrar for a new return date.
- (h) If documents have not been produced, any party may obtain a further return date from the registry. That party must inform all other parties of the new return date.

3. ACCESS TO DOCUMENTS

3.1 When the proposed access order takes effect, parties may inspect documents in the registry in accordance with that order. The other parties may inspect the documents produced as soon as the first access order has expired.

3.2 Practitioners should be aware that, if the party with first access does not inspect documents in accordance with the proposed access order, other parties may inspect privileged documents and the privilege may be lost.

3.3 The Court has broad discretionary powers under rule 33.8 of the Uniform Civil Procedure Rules 2005 with respect to access to and copying of documents.
