- children between 4 and 7 years must be secured in a forward facing approved child restraint that has an inbuilt harness or an approved booster seat which is restrained by a seatbelt.

The Order provides for a transitional period for drivers to become educated about the new requirements and to purchase and install approved restraints in their motor vehicles which comply with the new rules. The Order declares that, in circumstances specified in the Order, Rule 266 (1) and Rule 267-1 (2) of the Road Rules 2008 do not apply during the 4 month transitional period.

Some additional seats are designed specifically for use by children.

Further information regarding this Order, installation of additional seats in vehicles and new child restraint laws are available on the RTA's website: www.rta.nsw.gov.au. 1 Introduction

The Passenger Transport Act 1990 (Clause 53D) requires operators of vessels that carry passengers for a fare or other consideration and that can seat more than 8 adults, to have a Safety Management System (SMS).

The NSW Maritime website contains details on what is required in an SMS and also provides a sample SMS for the NSW Maritime vessel the Wingara. To further assist operators of class 1 and certain class 2 vessels to comply with SMS requirements NSW Maritime has developed this guideline.

1.1 Application of this guideline

This guideline applies to—

- a) all Class 1 commercial vessels that is vessels that carry more than 12 passengers, and includes vessels such as ferries, party boats, charter boats, commercial adventure craft and water taxis; and
- b) and those Class 2 vessels that
 - i) carry passengers for a fare or other consideration; and
 - ii) seat more than 8 adults

NOTE 1: Class 2 vessels include water taxis, adventure craft, fishing charters, dive boats etc, but would generally exclude workboats.

NOTE 2: NSW Maritime may require other high risk vessels to comply with this Guideline.

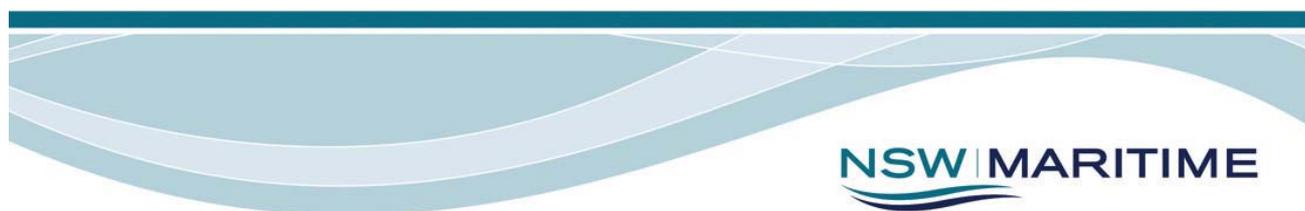

1.2 What is an SMS

An SMS is a formal documented system of policies, procedures and records developed by an operator for a particular vessel that focus on the management of risk (both identification and controls) in relation to operational and passenger safety. Documented operational and emergency procedures form two important elements of an SMS but there are other mandatory elements that an SMS must address.

The National Standard for Commercial Vessels Part E Operational Practices specifies the minimum requirements for an SMS for domestic vessels.

1.3 Demonstrating compliance with SMS requirements

NSW Maritime may check that an SMS has been implemented on a particular vessel by conducting an audit. This will include checking documents such as emergency procedures, records of drills conducted and staff induction procedures. In addition you may also be asked to conduct emergency drills with your crew to demonstrate the adequacy of your emergency preparedness and response.

1.4 How to use this guideline

This guideline identifies those elements of an SMS that will be checked and audited by NSW Maritime.

NSW Maritime has also produced a number of sample documents that you can customise to suit your vessel and operation. Hard copies of these documents are included in the back of this guideline to assist you in developing your own documentation and procedures, or alternatively you can download these as individual word documents from our website at www.maritime.nsw.gov.au then follow the links from the commercial vessels pages.

By following this guideline and customising the sample forms and checklists provided an operator can satisfy the requirements of an SMS.

1.5 SMS responsibilities

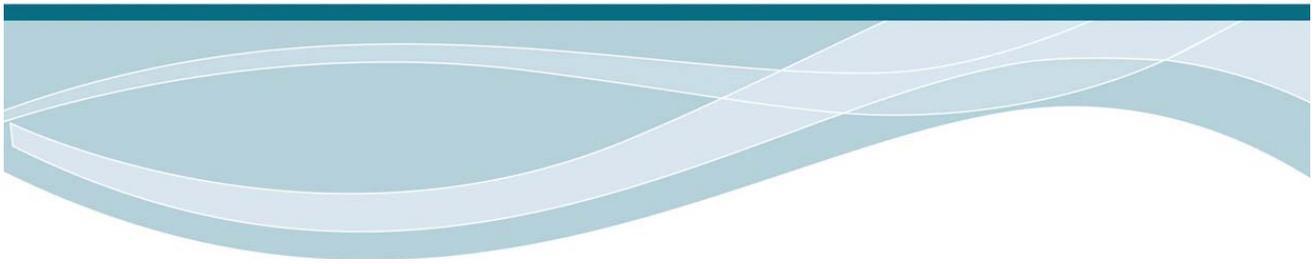

Both the owner, or designated person, and master of the vessel are responsible for ensuring that a vessel has an effective SMS.

The Master is responsible for:

- Ensuring the safety of the vessel and crew;
- Reporting vessel defects, accidents and hazardous occurrences to the owner or designated person;
- Assigning SMS related duties and responsibilities to onboard personnel; and
- Implementing, evaluating and reviewing the SMS onboard the vessel and reporting any deficiencies to the owner or designated person.

The owner or designated person is responsible for:

- Monitoring the safety of the vessel and pollution prevention;
- Determining communication and reporting arrangements between shore based and onboard personnel; and

- Ensuring appropriate resources, crew and shore support are provided to the vessel.

1.6 For more information

For more information on SMS requirements phone (02) 9563 8777 between 8.30am and 4.30pm Monday to Friday or fax (02) 9563 8788 or write to:

 - keep a daily logbook
-  = Sample document available online

These elements are described in more detail on the following pages.

2.1 Risk management

You must develop a documented risk management system and use the system to assess all operations.

- Any operation carried out onboard the vessel or associated with the operation of the vessel must be risk assessed and a risk minimisation strategy put in place to deal with identified risks

NOTE: Examples of operations that require a risk assessment include, but are not limited to, refuelling, diving, entertainment, charter fishing, swimming, towing, anchoring, navigating at night, mooring, disembarking etc.
- Operators are required to carry out a risk assessment and minimise identified risks, Hazpak – A Practical Guide to Basic Risk Management – a WorkCover NSW publication is a useful reference.
- Operators must carry out a new risk assessment where the vessel undertakes an activity or operation that is different from that normally undertaken by the vessel, or where the risk has changed for any reason.
- The risk assessment and minimisation strategy is to be documented and must be reviewed from time to time.

See Annex 1— Sample Risk Register – Class 1 and Certain Class 2 Vessels; and/or

See Annex 2— Sample Risk Register – Commercial Adventure Craft

A copy of Hazpak – A Practical Guide to Basic Risk Management can be downloaded at www.workcover.nsw.gov.au

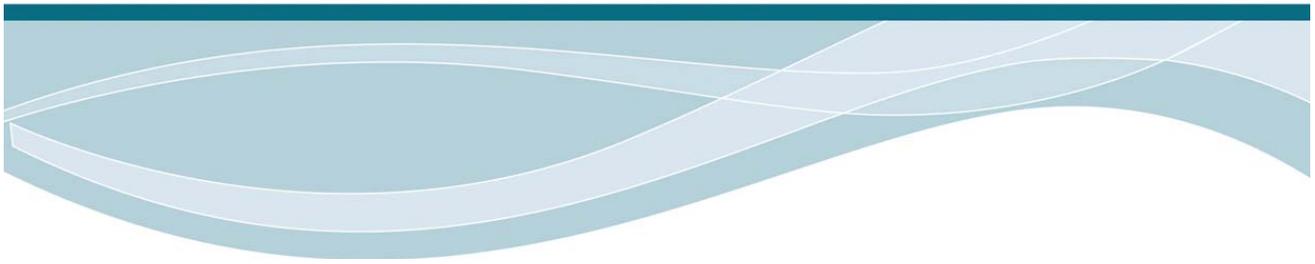

2.2 Operating manual

You must have an operating manual for each vessel

- The manual must include procedures for the safe operation of the vessel including onboard activities. Procedures may include:
 - Pre departure checks
 - Crew briefing
 - Passenger briefing
 - Engine startup
 - Navigation and watchkeeping
 - Engine shutdown
 - Disposal of sewage
 - Disposal of garbage
 - Mooring
 - Anchoring
 - Refuelling

- These procedures, identified in clauses 2.2.1 to 2.2.15, are examples only and must be modified to suit your vessel and operation.
- The operating manual must be easily accessed by staff.

See Annex 3— Sample Operating Manual

2.2.1 Pre departure checks

- Procedures must detail the pre departure checks required prior to a voyage.

2.2.2 Crew briefing

- A crew briefing must be conducted prior to each voyage. The briefing should include all crew as well as special personnel, hospitality staff, trainees etc.

- The crew briefing should include the following:
 - The nature and duration of the voyage
 - Number of passengers
 - Navigation plan
 - Berthing procedures
 - Activities to be undertaken on voyage
 - Crew responsibilities and tasks

- A passenger briefing must be conducted before or soon after departure.
- The passenger briefing should include the following:
 - Location of emergency assembly stations.
 - Instructions to passengers in an emergency, including a communication plan should key personnel become incapacitated.
 - Location of emergency equipment including instructions on fitting lifejackets.
 - Warnings about the effects of alcohol at sea. Waves, motion, vibration, wind and spray can multiply the effects of alcohol.
- The passenger briefing can be in the form of a video, recorded audio, or delivered by a crew member.
- The passenger briefing should be recorded in the vessel log.

2.2.4 Engine startup

- Detailed procedures for starting the vessel must be recorded.

2.2.5 Navigation and watchkeeping

- The vessel owner in consultation with vessel crew must ensure that there is adequate crew allocated for the voyage and specifically for watchkeeping tasks.
- Crew involvement in non-navigational tasks such as hospitality and entertainment, or supervising passenger activities, will limit their ability to keep an adequate look out and this needs to be taken into account when determining adequate crew.
- Factors that need to be considered in maintaining an adequate look out include traffic, time of day, visibility, weather, sea and light conditions and special on-water events.

NOTE: The minimum crew determined on the vessel's Certificate of Survey may not be adequate for the voyage, depending on the operations and conditions.

- Procedures must detail work practices and equipment required to navigate the vessel.
- Operators must comply with the NSW Maritime Code of Conduct for Vessels Operating in Sydney Cove.

A copy of NSW Maritime's Code of Conduct for Vessels Operating in Sydney Cove can be downloaded at www.maritime.nsw.gov.au

2.2.6 Engine shutdown

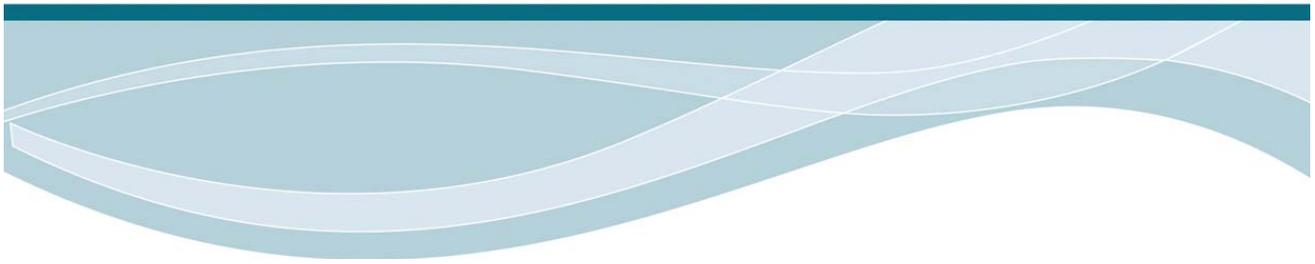

- Detailed procedures for shutdown must be recorded.

2.2.7 Disposal of waste

- Adequate waste receptacles must be provided for the storage of general waste onboard the vessel.
- Grey water and sewage must be disposed of in accordance with the Environment Operations Act 1997 and the Marine Pollution Regulation 2006.

2.2.8 Mooring

- Procedures must detail safe work practices for mooring the vessel including minimum line requirements, securing the vessel prior to embarkation / disembarkation, responsibilities of crew involved, communication for mooring operations and maintenance of machinery and equipment necessary for mooring operations.

- Mooring ropes must be stowed so that they do not create a hazard, become worn and can dry. You must regular check the ropes to ensure they are in a suitable condition.

2.2.9 Anchoring

- Procedures must specify suitable conditions for anchoring in terms of wind strength and water depth and detail safe work practices for operating anchoring equipment including ensuring the safety of passengers during operation of equipment.

2.2.10 Refuelling

- Procedures must specify the location of the refuelling facility and detail safety procedures during refuelling such as turning off any mobile phones, no smoking, ensuring fire extinguishers and spill kits are on hand.
- Sound tanks to determine quantity of fuel and fill rate and carefully monitor the refuelling operation.
- Record the date and quantity of fuel in the vessel log.

2.2.11 Towing

- Procedures must specify the circumstances in which the vessel is to tow another vessel or is to be towed by another vessel, tow configurations, any internal and external authorisations required, safe work practices for crew involved and matters related to passenger safety.

2.2.12 Passenger activities

- The operating manual must include procedures for the safety of crew and passengers when onboard passenger activities are being conducted.
- Onboard passenger activities could include activities such as thrill rides, sailing, sightseeing, dancing, swimming, etc.
- Procedures for the service of alcohol and providing entertainment, including amplified music and dancing, must specify that music and dancing must stop and lighting must return to normal prior to berthing.

- ❑ Operators must comply with NSW Maritime Codes of Conduct.

	Copies of the following NSW Maritime Codes of Conduct can be downloaded at www.maritime.nsw.gov.au Code of Conduct for the Operation of Commercial Adventure Vessels on Sydney Harbour; Code of Conduct for the Operation of Commercial Adventure Vessels on Lake Illawarra; Code of Conduct for the Mortlake Ferry and State Transit Authority Passenger Ferries; Code of Conduct for Charter Vessels Operating with Amplified Music Systems
---	--

2.2.13 Transferring passengers

- ❑ Operators must comply with the NSW Maritime Code of Conduct for Carrying out Passenger Transfers between Water Taxis and other Commercial Vessels which are Underway.

	A copy of the Code of Conduct For Carrying out Passenger Transfers Between Water Taxis and Other Commercial Vessels which Are Underway can be downloaded from www.maritime.nsw.gov.au
---	--

2.2.14 Other procedures

- ❑ Operators must assess whether other procedures need to be included in the operating manual by conducting a risk assessment specific to your operation in consultation with your crew.

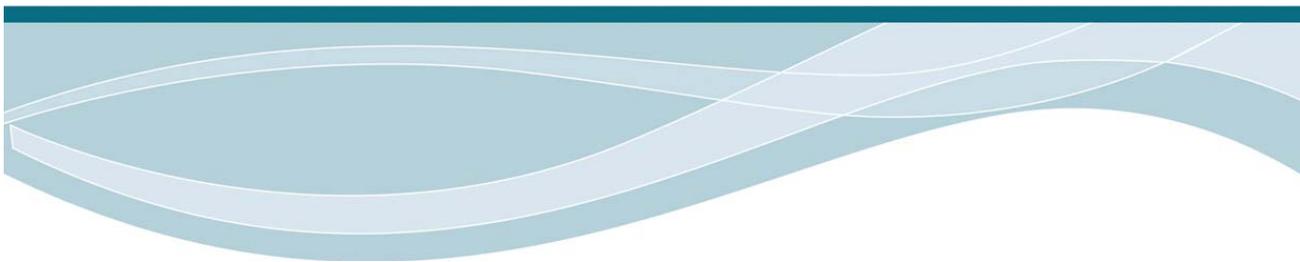

2.2.15 Review of operating manual

- ❑ The operating manual should be reviewed at regular intervals to keep it up to date or at any time there is a change to operations, crew tasks, new equipment or machinery.

2.3 Safe work practices

You must document safe work practices.

- ❑ Tasks that are identified as high risk tasks or tasks requiring specialised knowledge, experience or equipment (including wearing of personal protective equipment) should be documented in the form of a safe work statement.
- ❑ These statements can be incorporated into, or referenced in the operating manual.

NOTE: Examples of higher risk tasks that would require a safe work method statement include refuelling, pumpout, entering or working in confined spaces, passenger transfers.

- Safe work statements must be updated as tasks are modified, changed or new equipment is introduced onboard the vessel.

NOTE: When tasks change or are modified the vessels risk register may also need to be updated.

	See Annex 4— Sample Safe Work Method Form
	Safe Work Statement templates can also be downloaded from WorkCover at www.workcover.nsw.gov.au

2.4 Incidents, accidents and hazards

You must maintain a register of incidents, accidents and hazards.

- The register should be reviewed regularly and corrective action taken to reduce the likelihood and/or severity of incidents and accidents through the risk assessment process in 2.1.
- The incident, accident and hazard register should be readily available to all crew and be included in induction training.

	See Annex 5— Sample Incident / Injury Report Form See Annex 6— Sample Hazard Report Form When customised for your needs these forms can form the basis of a register.
---	---

2.5 Reportable incidents

You must report certain marine incidents to NSW Maritime

- A marine incident or accident is reportable to NSW Maritime if it results in, or could have possibly resulted in:
 - The loss of life or injury to any person onboard a vessel
 - the loss of a person from the vessel

- The loss of life or injury to a person that is caused by the vessel
 - the loss, or presumed loss of the vessel (including sinking or abandonment of the vessel)
 - the capsizing, grounding or flooding of the vessel
 - the collision of the vessel with another vessel or with any object
 - the vessel being disabled at sea (in any case in which it requires assistance)
 - any fire onboard the vessel
 - any damage being caused to the vessel (including structural failure)
 - any damage to the environment caused by the vessel or by any substance on, or discharge from, the vessel.
- You are required to notify NSW Maritime of such incidents as soon as practicable by the quickest means available.
- NSW Maritime has an incident report form available to assist in making reports.

NOTE: The report should be sent to NSW Maritime within 24 hours of the incident occurring.

	NSW Maritime Incident Reports can be downloaded from www.maritime.nsw.gov.au
---	---

2.6 Emergency management

You must have documented emergency procedures

2.6.1 Emergency procedures

- Operators must have in place procedures in place to ensure a coordinated and effective response to an emergency.
- The procedures must include the following emergency situations:
- Flooding
 - Abandon ship
 - Person overboard
 - Security breach / unlawful act
 - Fire
 - Bomb threat

- Collision / grounding
 - Severe weather
 - Serious injury/medical emergency
 - Critical systems breakdown
 - Search and rescue
 - Loss of key personnel
 - Reporting and communication during an emergency
 - Spillage of fuel / cargo
- Procedures should be short and simple so that they can be easily followed in the event of an emergency.
- NOTE: A laminated flip chart booklet in the wheel house is an effective way of displaying emergency procedures.
- You are required to consider the adequacy and competency of crew when planning an organised and effective response to an emergency onboard a vessel. This includes the possibility of secondary events occurring simultaneously with an initial event. For example a fire may result in a serious injury/medical emergency; or a collision/grounding may result in flooding and possibly abandon ship.
- Emergency procedures should be developed in consultation with crew, documented and reviewed and practised regularly.
- If hospitality/entertainment staff will be involved in responding to emergencies onboard, you must ensure that these staff receive appropriate training and take part in safety drills.

	See Annex 7— Sample Emergency Procedures

	NSW Maritime has developed a guideline document to assist operators in developing a security plan. A copy of NSW Maritime's Security Guidelines for Ferry and Charter Vessel Operators can be downloaded at www.maritime.nsw.gov.au
---	---

2.6.2 Emergency communication, coordination and reporting arrangements

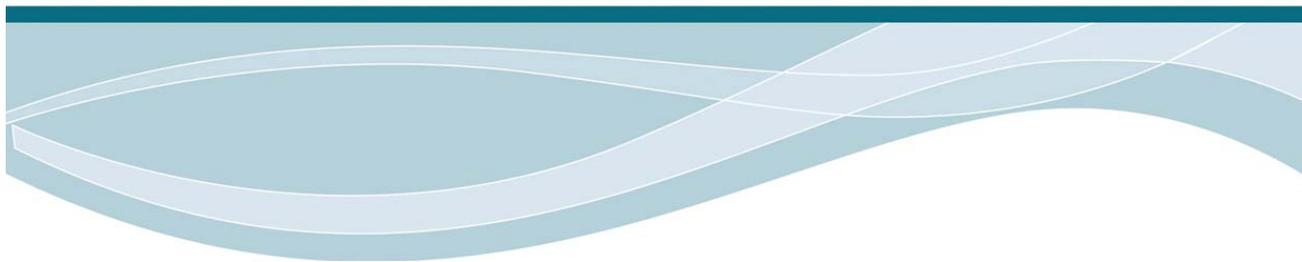

- You must document reporting instructions for emergency situations.
- Instructions must specify the roles and responsibilities of both shore based staff and crew onboard the vessel, the chain of command and reporting arrangements.
- These instructions should be reviewed as key personnel join and leave the operation.
- A contact list must be retained onboard detailing internal reporting instructions in the event of an emergency, including substitute reporting arrangements should the initial contact person be unavailable.
- A list of key external emergency contacts must be maintained. This should include names and contact numbers for emergency services such as ambulance, police, water police; fire, and other emergency contacts such as NSW Maritime, harbour master, etc.

2.6.3 Emergency assembly stations

- At least one emergency assembly station must be identified for each vessel.
- Consider access, capacity to accommodate passengers, evacuation paths, proximity to emergency equipment, and ability to communicate with passengers when appointing an emergency assembly station.
- Emergency assembly station lists must be displayed in conspicuous places onboard any vessel that carries in excess of 36 people.
- The list must identify the location of the emergency assembly station, as well as identifying:
 - The vessels emergency alarm signal and actions to be taken by crew and passengers should it sound
 - Crew responsibilities in the event of an emergency
 - Other staff members responsibilities in the event of an emergency (if applicable)

	See Annex 9— Sample Schedule of Maintenance Items
--	---

2.7.2 Deficiencies

You must have a system to record deficiencies

- A system must be in place to record deficiencies to the vessel, its machinery and equipment.
- Deficiencies, as well as corrective actions and follow-up, need to be recorded as they arise.
- Deficiencies can be recorded in the vessel log, maintenance schedule or a deficiency register.

	See Annex 10-Sample Deficiency Form When customised for your needs these form can form the basis of a register
---	---

2.8 Training

2.8.1 Crew Induction

You must provide induction training to all new crew

- Induction training should include:
 - Vessel operating procedures
 - Incident, accident and hazard registers
 - Emergency procedures
 - Passenger management
 - Maintenance procedures
 - Safe systems of work
 - Reporting procedures
 - Duties and responsibilities
- Induction training must be recorded in the vessel log book or crew register.
- Operators must have in place a system to ensure that any Master joining a vessel for the first time is competent in the practical handling of the vessel and use of the equipment and machinery onboard.

	See Annex 11-Sample Crew Register This has a column to record the date of induction training See Annex 12-Sample Induction Checklist
---	---

2.8.2 Safety drills

You must regularly conduct safety drills.

- Safety drills must be conducted regularly.
- Drills should cover each of the emergency situations identified in the vessel's emergency procedures (see clause 2.6.1).

	See Annex 13— Sample Drill Scenarios See Annex 14— Sample Safety Drill / Training Report Form
	In addition, you should reference the National Marine Safety Committee's Guidelines for Onboard Safety Training – Australian Domestic Vessels. See www.nmsc.gov.au

2.8.3 Refresher Training

You must ensure that crew remain competent through regular refresher training

- Regular talks are an effective means of communicating issues in the workplace, and provide an informal method of training. They should be used to address safety and quality issues, and to provide updates and reminders of operational practices.
- Topics that might be covered in regular communication include:
 - Changes to equipment and machinery
 - Changes to safe work systems
 - Drug and alcohol policy
- Refresher training compliments safety drills and crew briefings.

2.9 Administration and records

- Copies should be kept of all relevant documentation and certification required for the position.
- Crew records should be examined at regular intervals so as to ensure currency of documents and certification required.

2.9.3 Training records

You must keep a record of training and safety drills.

- Records of staff training including induction training, refresher training, drills and other training must be kept.

See Annex 14— Sample Safety Drill / Training Report Form

2.9.4 Passenger counts

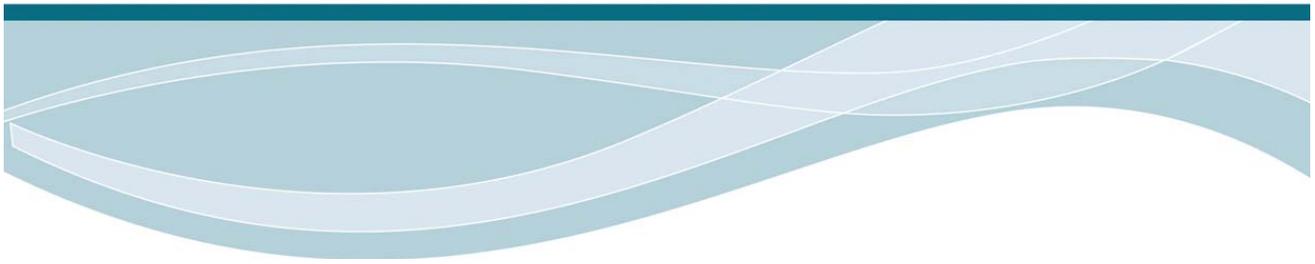

You must ensure that an accurate count of passengers is kept at all times.

- Passenger counts must be maintained in a manner that accurately shows the number of passengers onboard a vessel at any time.
- This includes amendments to the count when passengers embark and disembark. Passenger counts should be maintained in the vessel's logbook.

2.9.5 Vessel logbook

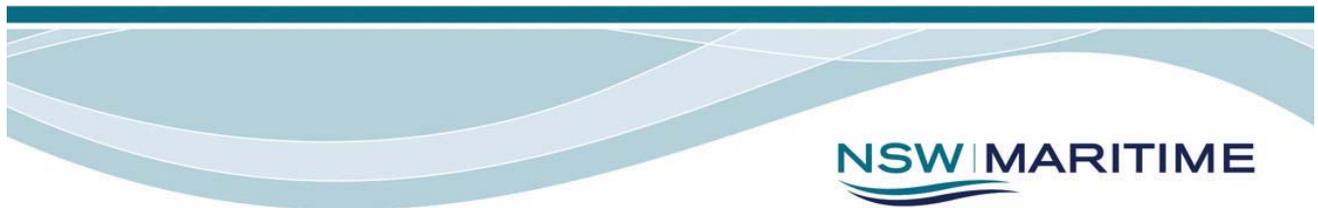

You must keep a daily log.

- The logbook must be maintained on a daily basis and should include information such as:

 - Details of illness or injury
 - Crew training
 - Incidents or accidents involving the vessel or equipment
 - Assistance provided to other vessels
 - Communication messaged in an emergency
 - Pre-departure checks
 - Unusual or extraordinary occurrences
- Logbook entries should be brief. For example while an injury or equipment failure will be noted as having occurred in the log, a full report of the injury or equipment failure would be recorded elsewhere (i.e. in an injury report form, and maintenance schedule respectively).

Annex 13— Sample Drill Scenarios

Before any drill

All crew and other staff should:

- know the location of emergency equipment and how to operate the equipment relevant to their responsibilities;
- be familiar with the emergency procedures for the vessel;
- be aware of their responsibilities in an emergency;
- be aware of reporting arrangements;
- understand their additional responsibilities should key personnel become incapacitated.

The drill

Sample scenarios are described below:

Main cabin fire

The bain marie is on fire in the main cabin of the vessel. The fire alarm sounds in the wheel house. The fire quickly spreads and thick smoke is filling the cabin. Passengers start to move to the outer decks of the vessel and there is congestion at the entry/exits of the vessel hindering the crew's response to the fire.

Additional scenario input:

A passenger is injured during the incident.

Master incapacitated

The vessel is operating at speed. The Master is steering and a GPH is on look out due to high levels of traffic. The engineer is not present, having gone down below to attend to some routine maintenance. The Master clutching at his chest, falls from his seat pulling on the helm as he hits the ground. The vessel swerves violently toward a fleet of small dinghies that are becalmed by a lack of wind.

Additional scenario input:

The vessel collides with one of the dinghies.

Man overboard

During normal operation the crew are alerted by passengers that a woman has jumped off the vessel. On investigation the crew learn that she jumped from the stern of the vessel whilst it was at high speed. The woman wears dark clothing and there is a slight wind chop, making her difficult to spot in the water.

Additional scenario input:

Conduct this scenario once with the passenger conscious and secondly unconscious, so that the recovery procedure can be scrutinised.

Points to watch during a drill

Master must:

- control and direct the crew and staff response
- communicate in clear, concise, assertive and unemotional language

Crew must:

- maintain situational awareness
- communicate in clear, concise, assertive and unemotional language
- keep passengers informed
- advise POCC if required
- use safe practices
- provide feedback to the Master
- use crowd control measures, if required
- work effectively as a team

After the drill

The Master must:

- arrange for any faulty or missing equipment to be repaired or replaced, make a record in maintenance schedule, deficiency register or logbook
- assess those aspects of the drill that were well executed and those areas that require additional training
- compare crew actions during the drill with the documented procedure, update the procedure if required
- provide feedback to crew
- complete a drill/training report form

CONTAMINATED LAND MANAGEMENT ACT 1997

Section 11

Environment Protection Authority

Declaration of significantly contaminated land

Declaration Number 20091104; Area Number 3268

THE Environment Protection Authority (EPA) declares the following land to be significantly contaminated land under the Contaminated Land Management Act 1997 ("the Act"):

1. Land to which this declaration applies ("the site")

The site comprises the Caltex "Big Prawn" service station, located on a portion of Lot 135 in DP 872709, Pacific Highway, County of Rous, in the local government area of Ballina Shire Council, NSW. A map showing the site location is attached.

2. Nature of contamination affecting the site:

The EPA has found that the site is contaminated with the following substances ("the contaminants"):

- Total Petroleum Hydrocarbons (TPH);
- Benzene, Toluene, Ethyl benzene and Xylenes (BTEX).

In particular the EPA has found:

- Phase-separated hydrocarbons in on-site wells located adjacent to the southern boundary facing Pacific Highway;
- Elevated concentrations of TPH and BTEX compounds in groundwater in on-site and off-site wells located adjacent to the southern boundary; and
- Previous incidents of odour complaints from residents.

3. Nature of harm that the contaminants may cause:

The EPA has considered the matters in s.12 of the Act and for the following reasons has determined that the land is contaminated and that the contamination is significant enough to warrant regulation under the Act:

- Groundwater is contaminated with separate phase petroleum hydrocarbons containing benzene;
- Contaminated groundwater has migrated into the adjoining footpath area and may continue to migrate offsite towards residential areas and the canal; and
- A potential exists for workers and residents to become exposed to vapours.

4. Further action under the Act

The making of this declaration does not prevent the carrying out of a voluntary management of the site and any person may submit a voluntary management proposal for the site to the EPA. If the proposal satisfies the requirements of s.17 of the Act the EPA may agree not to issue a management order to the person or persons bringing the proposal.

5. Submissions invited

The public may make written submissions to the EPA on:

- Whether the EPA should issue a management order in relation to the site; or
- Any other matter concerning the site.

Submissions should be made in writing to:

Manager Contaminated Sites
Department of Environment and Climate Change
PO Box A290
Sydney South NSW 1232

or faxed to (02) 9995 5930 by not later than 12 March 2010.

Date: 18 February 2010.

NIALL JOHNSTON,
Manager, Contaminated Sites,
Department of Environment and Climate Change

NOTE:

Management order may follow

If management of the site or part of the site is required, the EPA may issue a management order under s.14 of the Act.

Variation/Revocation

This declaration may be amended or repealed. It remains in force until it is otherwise amended or repealed. The subsequent declaration must state the reasons for the amendment or repeal (s.44 of the Act).

Information recorded by the EPA

Section 58 of the Act requires the EPA to maintain a public record. A copy of this significantly contaminated land declaration will be included in the public record.

Information recorded by councils

Section 59 of the Act requires the EPA to give a copy of this declaration to the relevant local council. The council is then required to note on its planning certificate issued pursuant to s.149 (2) of the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act that the land is declared significantly contaminated land. The EPA is required to notify council as soon as practicable when the declaration is no longer in force and the notation on the s.149 (2) certificate is no longer required.

Relationship to other regulatory instrument

This declaration does not affect the provisions of any relevant environmental planning instruments which apply to the land or provisions of any other environmental protection legislation administered by the EPA.
